

Unplugged Scavenger Hunt

1. I have bold red double doors for my entrance.
2. I was felled, narrowly missing a clapboard building, when a huge storm blew through Old Lyme this past August.
3. I was recently constructed but represent the early living space of our indigenous ancestors.
4. I am the resting place for almost 150 family and friends of Saint Ann's
5. I am considered the first Christian environmentalist.
6. I was the St Ann's church building before my current location at 82 Shore Road.
7. Currently I am a favorite dining spot for chickadees, tufted titmice, downy woodpeckers and house finches.
8. I am Polyethylene Terephthalate and a country singer named Brooks.
9. I am over forty feet high and sit atop a building. I was placed there, by a crane, 5 years after the building was built, in the early 1960s.
10. I am the largest mammal on Saint Ann's property-- probably in Old Lyme! (and am not usually found on land).
